Bot the Actual Money Loss to the Jarms era le Nei Sie Great as Blight al First . Appear-Fahe Remedica Haponed.

Secretary Morton, in an Interview recently, sold: "I have noticed in thenewspapers lately a review of a compilation by

Prof. Panton, of the Ontario Agrieulturul celiege, in which he brings together auce mure the figures concerning the animal loss from the work of destructive insects. These figures, mostly drawn from Ameriean sources, and mainly from publientions of the United States department of ngrleulture, serve u good purpose in directing attention to the nece sity for active work on the part of economic cutomologists, but, in one way, they are somewhat misleading. The losses to individual farmers, and occu ionnly to the ngricultural population of a more or less restricted portion of the country, are frequently very grent, summed up in dollars und cents, yet the actual money bass to the ngriculturulists of the country ut inrge is by no means expressed by these same figures, for the simple reason that the lass of a portion of the erop menns un increased price for the remainder. We may express the loss from buseets in terms of I vay and telegraph companies.

"There is no doubt, however, of the notunl and great money value to individuals as the result of the inbors of the government and state entomologists. For example, u promiaent fruit-grower lu Virginiu says that his income has been increased during the past few years by from three thousand to four thousand dollars annually us a result of following the advice of the entomoiogist of the United States department of agriculture. The proprietor of a large orehard in Mnryland said that the advice of Mr. L. O. Howard, the present entomologist, at a time last fall when more than three thousand of his young trees were badly affected by the San Jose scale, had resulted in a clear saving to him of five thousand dollars. In California it is n commou estimate that the difference between the Income from a healthy orchard and one infested with insects is about seventy-five dollars per nere for a single season. The expenditure of three dollars per aere, following the intest methods ascertnined by the entomologists, will keep the orchard healthy. The work of the division of entomology during the past few months on the cotton-boll weevll in southern Texas will result in the saving of many thousands n! dollars to eotton planters in that section, if the recommendations are followed. "Those instances are new, and are simply examples of savlag work which is going on from year to year. It is probuble that ia the a rangate they result in the suving of even greuter sums than do the much rarer but more strlking iustances, such as the introduction by the department of the Australian indybird into Cullfornin, by which the entire citres industry of that state was saved from destruction.

"Not a small item in the total value to be accredited to the entomological work of the department is the exposure of 'fnke' remedies. Only the present season the entomologist has shown that a tree-inoculating company in the New England states, which claimed to be able to iaoculate trees against the ruvages of leaf-feeding insects, lind been basing Its claims upon the disguised application of n method which was proved to be totally ineffacious fifty

'Ineidentally, and nithough not pertaining strictly to agricultural interests, I might mention that the application of a remeily nguinst mosquitoes, first practically used by our Mr. Howard, nad recommended in his publications during the past year or two, has resulted. In two instances at least, in rendering habitable large sections near Long Island sound, and in so greatly increasing the to u of reul estate that the owaers have made large sums of money as n direct result." - Washington

They promptly volunteered to asslat Capt. The storm was increasing in fury, and ue time was to be lost, if the crew were to be sayed. At this nud Sallie, aged thirteen, volunteered to assist. He immediately gave orders to have prepared two with henvy silver chains, appropriately inscribed, and inclosed in handsome cases, with the royal arms of Sweden and Norway embossed lu gold on the covers. Each locket has on the outside in large, heavy raised letters of beautiful design the moungrams of the two girls-"I. B." and 'S. originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system It is s well known lact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dellars up to $50,000 to $100,000 ur more by those who invest a lew thousand. It is also a lact that those who make the largest profits from comparit-

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
